Reflecting on the Coronavirus While Social Distancing on the Hill at South Road

I was attending Swasey School as a second or third grader in 1962 when my first crisis alarm sounded during the Soviet Missile Crisis in Cuba. As students of that age, we really didn't understand what it all involved, except that the teacher, Mrs. Brown, pushed the very small TV on that very tall stand out into the hallway so that it wouldn't tip over and kill one of us during an attack. She then proceeded to make us participate in the rest of the drill which involved our taking cover under our desks. In the spring of that year, the class was invited to a cookout at the Shermans' home on North Road where we observed a family-sized nuclear fallout shelter constructed into a banking behind the house – the only shelter of its kind, that I know of, being built in Brentwood. It sure beat a treehouse!

The second alarm sounded across town in 1962/1963 when the oral polio vaccine became available and residents were summoned on a couple successive Sunday afternoons to the Rockingham County complex on North Road for the first and then the second "booster" dose. We stood in long lines to receive a dose of clear liquid in a little single serving white "ketchup" cup (I still remember the unique aroma of the stuff). The adults seemed concerned, maybe relieved, about all that was transpiring, but all I really recall was having to go back to the farm and take care of the cows.

Life in Brentwood was overwhelmingly tranquil in that era when, by the age of a fourth or fifth grader, parents thought nothing of allowing us to ride our bicycles the 4.5 miles from South Road to Swasey – with an afternoon stop at Lindy's Store. Our one household telephone line was connected to the grid via a "party line," along with three or four other families – a half century before Twitter, Instagram and Facebook (the first two are still a mystery to me on how to connect).

Television in Brentwood, up until the late sixties, consisted of a super small, maybe 22" set in black and white, and the four channels could be surfed in approximately six seconds once you stood up and walked to the set to turn the knob. Kids didn't stay up all night watching, as the "test pattern" appeared around 11:00 pm and would be visible until around 7:00 am. Media beyond TV came by US Mail – your choice among few others would be the Readers Digest, the Union Leader or the Boston Globe. Depending on the winter weather, by the time the mailman arrived, the news could well have been a few days old. We didn't know it at the time, but we were so fortunate not to be bombarded by the 24/7 cable news feed of the present with the apocalyptic craziness that suggests we be totally risk-adverse and not use our own common sense in facing this current dilemma.

As much as we observe Brentwood develop and grow, we still are, by most standards here in 2020, a rural area with enough space and fresh air to mitigate the effects of the fearful virus. We continue to enjoy an excellent healthcare system that includes the County Nursing Home where many elderly town residents now reside being well cared for in the absence of the virus at the facility.

Being a part of the Brentwood business community, we at Highland Hardwoods, like the other establishments in town, are rigorously cleaning and doing what we can to be safe while interacting with staff and customers – hoping to survive as small businesses until we can get back to normal, economical operation as a result of the pandemic. We must start soon.

I'm reminding myself often of my dairy farmer grandfather pointing to the blue "clearing line" on the horizon looking west from the top of the hill after a rain storm that earlier had ruined a batch of freshly-windrowed hay that we just missed bailing and storing away in the barn – conditions always shall improve!

The Brentwood Newsletter and the Brentwood Historical Society are working together to document our collective experiences as Brentwood endures the COVID-19 pandemic. What has it been like for you and your family? How have you dealt with home schooling, working from home? Have you lost your job, been laid off, or work for a company that has retooled it's output in a new direction? What unique experiences have you encountered and how have you dealt with them? Add your thoughts to history. Use this as a learning experience for your children, have them write down how they are adapting. ## Brentwood: A Purple Heart Community

On Tuesday, February 18, 2020, the Brentwood Board of Selectmen signed a Proclamation declaring Brentwood a Purple Heart Community. Becoming a Purple Heart Community pays tribute to US service members and expresses Brentwood's gratitude for the sacrifices of all members of the military, in particular those who have been awarded the Purple Heart after sustaining injuries or dying in combat.

The Purple Heart is the oldest American military decoration and was created as The Badge of Military Merit (made of purple cloth in the shape of a heart) on August 7, 1782, by General George Washington. It is awarded to those who have been wounded or killed in action while serving in the Armed Forces.

Brentwood joins a growing number of towns across the nation that are paying tribute to those men and women within their towns who have selflessly served their country. The Select Board has designated August 7th as Purple Heart Day and is urging people and organizations of Brentwood to display the American Flag as well as other public expressions of recognition of our Purple Heart recipients.

Brentwood joins other area municipalities in this recognition and is discussing posting signs noting the designation. With the presence of signs designating Brentwood as a Purple Heart Community, the public will have a visual reminder of the sacrifices paid by the Purple Heart recipients and a notice that the town supports its military heroes.

As of April 2020, 2 PHC signs have been sponsored and we are working to have them placed either roadside, at the town office building, or at Tonry Cemetery. If you are interested in sponsoring a sign or would like more information in general, please contact Joyce at bwodnhcem@gmail.com or at (603) 502-8143.

Neighbors Helping Neighbors

The Brentwood Food Pantry located at the Pilgrim Church, 197 Middle Road/111-A, has been more active over the past couple of months with people unable to work and needing assistance due to the coronavirus. We have been amazed by the generosity of the townspeople in Brentwood and beyond! We have also forged a partnership with the Three River Farm Alliance to bring fresh produce to our Food Pantry families. We are so appreciative of local neighbors who have donated fresh eggs, milk, and frozen meat. Thank you all.

Recently, we have had inquiries as to what is needed for the Pantry and the following are some suggestions:

- Personal items: such as soap, shampoo, deodorant, facial tissues, feminine products and paper towels are very helpful.
- Food: pasta sauce, soups of all kinds, baking mixes, oil, mayonnaise, gravy, canned chicken, juices, and cereals are quick to go.
- Monetary donations are also useful as they allow us to give our clients a gift card to a local grocery store for those items we do not stock. If you write a check, please make it payable to Pilgrim UCC with Food Pantry in the memo.

Your donations may be dropped off at the church in the bin outside by the front door or on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:00 am to 12:00 pm.

Thank you for all you are doing for those less fortunate! God's blessings to you. Take good care and stay healthy!

Brentwood Gardeners

The Brentwood Gardeners' meeting has again been cancelled for June. We'll be excited to resume our gatherings in September with lots of fun and interesting programs. Watch for an announcement as we make plans for a sale in time for fall planting.

Spring Has Sprung!

No matter how many years go by, the change in the seasons feels almost magical. In the Spring, the days are longer and brighter. The birds are singing, the sight of colors and new growth give us a sense of wonder and excitement. We're all itching to be outside!

Whether you garden in large spaces or in small pots, here are a list of plants you may like to try this year to attract more butterflies and hummingbirds:

Butterflies enjoy asters, marigolds, and daylilies as well as cosmos, lavender, globe thistle, bee balm, verbena, phlox and nasturtium.

Hummingbirds also like bee balm, verbena, phlox and nasturtium, but they also enjoy geranium, impatiens, fuchsia, salvia and petunias—just to name a few.

It's also a great idea to include a water source, bird baths aren't just for the birds.

We hope you all have a lovely Spring and enjoy a healthy and happy Summer.

Ask the Newsletter

by Liz Faria

As elected officials for many years, my husband and I are often asked questions by neighbors, friends, the press, and other interested parties. Sometimes we know the answers, but other times we need to check with those more knowledgeable. We believe that if you have a question concerning town, school or county happenings, it is likely that one of your neighbors might have a similar question. We thought we would try a new feature in the BNL called "Ask the Newsletter."

Please feel free to ask away at ask-us@brentwoodnewsletter.org and we will strive to provide the answer in an upcoming edition.

Question: What is the difference between SAU16 and the Co-op?

Answer: School Administrative Unit 16 is the central administration for all the schools in our designated area. There are six towns (Brentwood, East Kingston, Exeter, Kensington, Newfields and Stratham), seven elementary schools (Exeter has two), one cooperative middle school (CMS) and Exeter High School (EHS).

The SAU takes direction from the elected school boards. Each town has their own elementary school board. In addition, there is the Exeter Region Co-operative School District Board (often referred to as the "Co-op") which oversees the middle school and the high school. This Co-op board has nine members: three from Exeter, two from Stratham, and one each from the four smaller towns.

The Co-op also includes our vocational school, the Seacoast School of Technology (SST), and Exeter Adult Education.

If you hear the "Joint Boards" referred to, that is all the school boards put together. There are 33 possible Joint Board members. Currently there are only 32 since Melissa Litchfield serves as both a Brentwood school board member as well as our Co-op member.

So remember, SAU16 is all of the administration, and the "Co-op" refers to the middle and high schools.

Beautification Mini-Grant for the BHS

The title of the Carriage Towne News article, "Beautification Mini-Grants," spurred further reading and curiosity on the part of Board Member, Dexter Swasey. Presented through the Exeter Area Garden Club, these mini-grants are given to groups who propose to construct a garden in a public area of their community. Why not the Brentwood Historical Society Museum? Why not a unique window box garden for the new front porch?

The application for the grant was completed, the required plan and rationale for the grant noted, a list of requested materials and costs (including donated/no cost materials), and a "before" photo. Dexter mailed the application and waited for the anticipated response. The request was funded – such good news! The mini-grant was awarded to the Brentwood Historical Society Museum and with the help of Karen and Nate Ellis, the process of building the window boxes, buying materials and planting has begun. The seeds received from the NH Free Seed program have sprouted under the care of Becky Davis and Karen Ellis and will be planted as well. We hope residents enjoy the window box garden as it grows throughout the summer.

Lisa Swasey

BHS News & Updates

As you know, May and June programs have been cancelled and so are open hours until further notice. The board will be meeting in June to make plans for moving forward out of quarantine

In April, Karen Ellis, Becky Davis, Dexter Swasey, and Rebecca Dunham met with Gladys Ray to interview her about the Grange prior to her moving out of state. She was very helpful in filling in details about Grange programs, membership, meetings, materials, and our building. She will be missed by many in the Brentwood and Kingston communities.

Marjo Rousseau, our webmistress over the past many years, will be retiring from the job and Nick Wrighton will be taking over the management of the website.

If you have not driven by the BHS, do so and take a look at the restored front porch and the flower boxes built and donated by Dexter Swasey.

We have not been inside as a group for a number of months, but work has continued on the database and exhibits. Thanks to Becky Davis, Karen Ellis, Dawn Higley, Nate Ellis and Dexter Swasey for the hours put in over March, April and May.

Thanks to all for what you are doing and contributing to our good work.

Rebecca Dunham, President, Brentwood Historical Society

Good Works in Brentwood

by Rebecca Dunham

During this time of Covid-19 restrictions and guidelines, volunteering in person opportunities have been very limited or non-existent. Things are starting to open up and if you are interested in giving your time to an agency or organization, you should contact them directly for information.

However, there are some things you can do locally. The Red Cross is in need of blood donations and they post locations of blood drives on their website. You can sign up for an appointment. There is also a lot of news about the demand on food pantries helping families who are struggling economically. There are two food pantries, Pilgrim Church and on Route 125 by A Place to Grow) in Brentwood. Donations of non-perishables and cash are welcome. And, personal cash donations to the charity of your choice, at this time, would be most welcome.

COVID MOMENTS

What Are You Doing to Pass the Days While You Stay at Home?

Thoughts That Come to Mind While Living Through This Coronavirus of 2020

The impact on me has been minimal. The federal and State guidelines to stay home was not a huge life change for me as a retired person. Dentist and doctor appointments had to be cancelled and family get together postponed.

The usual Spring clean up of the yard continued. As the virus news got worse, my mind wandered back to two anecdotes from my parents about the 1918 Spanish Flu era.

As I raked the family Rowell-Swasey Cemetery, Dad's comments of the 1918 flu came back to me.

I had asked him about a certain area in the cemetery with no stone markers. He was only six years old at the time, but remembers neighbors dying from the flu and their relatives needing to have them buried quickly. He did not know why headstones had never been erected and did not know who the people were or how many.

Dad had ten sisters and brothers at the time. In the farm journal kept by my grandfather and grandmother, they mentioned that the "entire family had flu."

My mother's story was about living in Newton, NH and remembers "what an awful time it was." She was six and recalled her mother helping out neighbors who were sick and bringing home a little girl to stay at their house while her mother recovered. Then the little girl got the virus and went back to her own house and eventually died. Being so close to sick people with the virus, mom said she was surprised she and her mother never got sick.

As days went on, I kept seeing articles on the internet about face masks. My sister and I discussed the growing need for healthcare workers and decided to start sewing masks. She contacted VNA, Brentwood Police and Fire Dept. and we made some for them. I then checked with Meals on Wheels office on North Road and we donated to them.

We found out about Seacoast Mask Makers in Exeter and donated masks to them.

People are helping out in many different ways to get through this Pandemic. It feels good to use my sewing skills to be helpful creating face masks for those who have to be out there on the front lines.

I never dreamed what my parents lived through in 1918 as children, I would be living through in 2020.

Barbara Swasey-Keir

Animals Are Essential Too!

Brentwood Country Animal Hospital is committed to the maintenance of health and well-being for our patients. The challenge of adhering to strict social distancing and deep cleaning and disinfecting between each and every patient has forced us to make major changes in the way we interact with patients and their people.

Clients are no longer allowed in our building. Instead, they call us from the parking lot to let us know that they have arrived for the appointment. We get a history of concerns and one of the staff wearing a mask and gloves comes to bring the patient into the clinic. We trade one of our cloth leads (that will be laundered between dogs) for the client's leash, and carry cats in their carriers. After the exam we call with findings, thoughts, and plans. We place medication and food orders called in by clients in containers on the front porch.

We remain committed to the philosophy of Fear Free Practice, striving to minimize fear, anxiety, and stress in our patients. This new and temporary way of doing our jobs ensures that we are still able to provide essential medical attention and care for our patients, and doing our best to minimize their stress, while protecting the health of our staff and clients.

The State Needs to Get Back to Work

The infection rate is minimal and we are losing more to mental illness at this time and this is having a negative effect on our citizens.

Some would like to keep everything closed and restricted – it's been over two months and we need to be leaders and show confidence in our abilities to be prudent and respectful, but also trust that overall we will do the right thing. We have done that by taking a pause for over two months and now it's time to roll up our sleeves and get back to work! The American workforce wants to hear us say "let's roll." We are strong and resilient and ready to tackle obstacles and get back to a semblance of normalcy.

The reality is we support local businesses and the spirit of America and the live free or die way of life in New Hampshire, not this shelter in place and cower in anticipation and clearance to live free!

Bob Mantegari

Meeting the Challenge

Dealing with a pandemic as a mother of two young boys and business owner has had its own set of challenges that I'm sure we can all relate to. Family and friend gatherings are now done via Zoom or Facetime. The most difficult for all of us is not having the in person interactions, especially with grandparents. Keeping my two young boys structured with a virtual school schedule and entertained was, and still is, without a doubt an adjustment. We have all had to make changes and learn new ways to "get it done" as we are all working from home together. The silver lining to this is we have spent more time together we otherwise would not have had.

Being a Realtor during these uncertain times has its challenges, but thankfully I am armed with so much technology to keep moving forward. Business is conducted much differently than months ago. The ease of showing a property and marketing a property is still there, I just have to think out of the box and be creative. An in-person open house with buyers physically coming through the property has transitioned to a virtual walk through tour. Showings, of course, are still done by appointment. Social distancing, facial masks, and antibacterial wipes are used to wipe down surfaces before and after each appointment. Home inspections vary based on the vendor and buyer comfort levels. A majority of home inspectors and buyers are opting for a Facetime call once the inspection is done. The inspectors are going through the report with clients via a Facetime or Zoom call, just as they would if the client was there in person. Title companies are conducting drive-by closings. Buyers and sellers are able to review and sign most all documents electronically. The day of transferring ownership, the buyers and sellers have a designated time to go to the closing company. No one needs to leave their vehicles, and the closing agent comes outside and passes paperwork that needs notarized signatures through the window. Health and safety for all is a top priority. We are all in this together and we will get through this.

Friends of the Mary E. Bartlett Library

Who misses the library? (Raises hand!) While the building may be closed, library staff is working hard to provide online resources and programs. Digital material is more expensive than print, and there likely will be unanticipated expenses associated with reopening. It is the Friends' mission to support the library by supplementing the budget where needed. Our formal Membership Drive has been temporarily put on hold, but you can make a donation any time. Online donations can be made from the Friends tab on the library's website. While you're there, click the AmazonSmile button (or go directly to www.Smile.amazon.com) and select "Friends of the Mary E. Bartlett Memorial Library" as your charity. A small portion of every purchase goes directly to the Friends!

Thank you to community members who volunteered for Friends of the Library Board positions. We will be voting on these positions during our June meeting. I'll report the results on Facebook and in the next Newsletter.

During our meeting in May, we discussed renewal of museum passes. Because the library and museums were not open at that time, we decided not to renew several passes. (We can request passes at any time once locations open back up.) One of the museums put on hold is the McAuliffe-Shepard Discovery Center. At the time of this writing, the Center is closed, but you can visit their website to check out at-home science activities, virtual exhibits and a new planetarium show each week. We had already purchased 5 passes for the Seashore Trolley Museum each of which provide free admission for 5 people. I highly recommend a visit when it reopens. My family enjoyed exploring there last fall, and observed people of all ages, from families with toddlers to retired history-lovers, wandering in and around the various forms of transportation.

Currently, the Basement Bookstore is closed and activities are on hold. Library staff have been putting some books in the Community Bookshelf for your reading pleasure. Please watch the library's website and the Friends' Facebook page (<https://www.facebook.com/Friends ofMEBLibrary/>) for updates.

Our next meeting will be Monday, June 8, at 6:30 pm, more than likely via Zoom. Feel free to email me at jdpaul@friendsofmeblibrary.org if you'd like an invitation.

Jessica Paul, Secretary for The Friends

Library Trustees will meet on June 15th at 6:00 pm via Jitsi. Login information will be available on the library website and posted on the physical library door, prior to the meeting.

News From the State House

With each passing day we learn that the predictions and fatality rate of SARS-CoV-2 were nowhere near where they were suggested in March. For people under 60 with no pre-existing conditions, it is more dangerous to drive to the grocery store than have SARS-CoV-2. With 70-80% of New Hampshire deaths occurring in nursing homes and assisted living homes, the strategy to blunt the effects should have shifted, but New Hampshire and other states seem unwilling to shift the plans.

As people get more information, even some of the people who originally supported the idea of staying home have started to venture out. The numbers of people staying home are dropping and some states are threatening to fine or arrest people that don't stay home. Americans have a spirit which does not just appeal to authority, we need to be convinced it is in our best interest or we are more than happy to rebel. Not only is rebelling more frequent with nonsensical rules, I have seen people talking about voting with their feet by moving to another state with less stringent rules. I know of one person who has already moved from a more restrictive state to a less restrictive state and another who is planning to move in the beginning of June. New Hampshire population growth comes from people voting with their feet because of personal freedoms we enjoy in New Hampshire. With New Hampshire not being able to lead the way relaxing the controls because of fear that people from Massachusetts will flood in, that net migration might falter this year. The people talking about moving are not talking about New Hampshire as one of the places they are considering.

The NH House will meet June 11th for the first time since March at the UNH Whittemore Center. The Speaker chose an arena so that we could space out. I expect there to be some fireworks that day. There may be someone who wants to end the State of Emergency or limit emergency powers of the Governor. More likely is a discussion over the power of the Speaker to require masks of all legislators during session as he said he would require in the 5/14/20 calendar. It is likely that such a rule would require a rule change by the House and would need a  $\frac{2}{3}$  vote to pass. Since masks are only helpful when not social distancing, it is likely there will be some civil disobedience as the whole point of a 7,500 seat arena is to allow everyone to keep their distance so the requirement for masks flies in the face of the logic of the situation.

Without a solution to public hearings for bills, it is possible some bills could be pulled from their committee and voted up or down on the House Floor. However, I fear that we could end up with a lot of Tabled bills to avoid having a full debate on the issues since by this time in the year we are wrapping up so there is a perceived time crunch while other bills will get rammed through in spite of their problems.

Please feel free to reach out to me with your questions and comments at fb.com/RepYokela or josh.yokela@leg.state.nh.us.

Representative Josh Yokela
Rockingham 33 (Brentwood, Danville, and Fremont)

As of May 15, we are in our ninth week of the COVID-19 emergency, and the number of new cases each day remains higher than any of us want to hear. We are so proud of the local residents and organizations who have stepped up in these challenging times. In a crisis like this, it is amazing to see people on the front line doing extraordinary work to protect us.

I also want to acknowledge and thank the people in our community who are working behind the scenes to keep the front line workers safe and make medical progress in treating this awful disease. This week, I was contacted by a sales director of a clothing company in Newmarket who had access to 1.4 million masks through their UK contacts. Together, we reached out to the NH Department of Safety, Homeland Security and Emergency Management to expedite the application process, placing this NH business in line for approval to have masks delivered in June. I hope our community and state can be aided by this resident looking out for NH citizens.

In mid April I was contacted by Dr. Anil Dewan of Brentwood. He is the chair of the Institutional Review Board (IRB) at Southern New Hampshire Medical Center, which is charged with the responsibility for ensuring the safety and well being of human subjects involved in research. Dr. Dewan's lab is involved with experimental treatments for patients with COVID-19 using plasma from patients who have recovered from the disease. The hope is that this convalescent plasma will contain antibodies to the virus, and will therefore help those currently fighting COVID-19.

The Mayo Clinic is heading this research, but requires support from participating hospitals like SNHMC. Dr. Dewan reached out to me in regards to concerns over legislative restrictions that may have prevented patients from entering the study. RSA 138-J:5 and RSA 464-A:25 together prevented medical proxies from providing consent for experimental treatments without approval from a probate court. Many of the patients eligible for this study are on ventilators and are unable to consent to the treatment themselves. Considering our current environment, the court system does not have the capacity to move in a timely manner.

When Dr. Dewan brought this to my attention, I immediately reached out to my colleagues including Senator Tom Sherman, a practicing physician, and John Williams, the Legislative Liaison to the House Committee on Health, Human Services and Elderly Affairs. Through these contacts, Dr. Dewan's concerns were heard by the attorney for the NH Department of Health and Human Services. She also recognized the constraints the law created in these extenuating circumstances and moved quickly to alert Governor Sununu.

Just over two weeks after Dr. Dewan reached out to me, the Governor signed Emergency Order 39. This Emergency Order "provides temporary allowance for agents to consent to clinical trials."

I am grateful Dr. Dewan reached out to me and proud to have played a part in supporting the studies helping us fight this virus.

As these events have shown, we must work together to protect the health and safety of the citizens of New Hampshire. Please continue to support your fellow citizens by washing your hands, maintaining social distancing and wearing a mask in public.

I can be reached at liz.mcconnell@leg.state.nh.us. Thank you again for the opportunity to serve Brentwood. I love this job! Liz

Return to School Committees From Superintendent Dr. David Ryan

Return-to-school committee orientation has begun. The SAU16 Crisis Response Plan calls for the assemblage and operation of four teams to each plan one of the four models for return to school in the fall: full return to school, return to school with interruption, delayed return to school with remote instruction, and hybrid return. Each team consists of employees from all roles and responsibilities in SAU 16 and will soon include student and parent representatives. These teams are scheduled to hold their orientation meetings on Monday or Tuesday of next week with research and collection of data to follow. Progress on all four plans will be made available throughout the process and the products will be shared in their entirety.
